"Throughout my 20-year career in ecommerce, I had always been fascinated by the influencer culture that grew up around me. Witnessing how individuals could build empires from their bedrooms, without the constraints of traditional business I found myself in. I ventured into creating a YouTube channel myself and soon realized that no matter how hard I worked or how valuable my content was to my audience, it was ultimately up to brands to determine my financial worth."

Atif Darr, CEO and Founder of sociallypersonal.com

This realization became the underlying inspiration for sociallypersonal.com. By combining the standout features of Patreon, Cameo, and OnlyFans, we've created an innovative social media platform that revolutionizes how influencers and creators monetize their followings. We provide a vehicle for influencers to regain control over their financial destinies, breaking free from the reliance on brands' evaluations.

Today's influencers and creators understand the value of smaller, engaged audiences over sheer follower counts. They recognise that building trust and fostering connections leads to a more responsive and sustainable community. With the new platform, influencers have the opportunity to cultivate loyal followings and provide exclusive content to their dedicated fan base. In an industry long dominated by brands and sponsors, www.sociallypersonal.com puts the power back into the hands of influencers and creators.

"The Power of a Smaller, Engaged Audience" lies at the heart of this ground-breaking platform. Engaged followers trust recommendations, actively participate, and passionately support their favourite influencers and creators.

Key Features include:

- 1-to-1 Video Calls: Fans can book video calls with their favorite influencers that are hosted directly within the app, providing unique and insightful interactions.
