Get to know Anesthesiologist Dr. Reginald D. Foy, who serves patients in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

New York City, New York Jun 22, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - An established anesthesiologist, Dr. Foy works within the Department of Anesthesiology at Jefferson Torresdale Hospital in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He provides anesthesia with precision and expertise for all types of surgical and invasive procedures, as well as for the management of acute pain.

Jefferson Torresdale Hospital is a non-profit hospital in the Jefferson Health Northeast system, a multi-state non-profit health system now a part of Jefferson Health. The hospital serves as a general hospital of Aria-Jefferson Health and is a Level II trauma center.

With a broad educational background, Dr. Foy graduated with his medical degree from Drexel University College of Medicine in 1999. He then went on to perform his internship at Wake Forest University Baptist Medical Center in 2000, followed by his residency in anesthesiology at the Perelman School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania in 2003.

Ensuring the safety of patients who are about to undergo surgery, the doctor is board certified in anesthesiology by the American Board of Anesthesiology (ABA). As the certifying body for anesthesiologists since 1938, the ABA is committed to partnering with physicians to advance lifelong learning and exceptional patient care. Its mission is to advance the highest standards of the practice of anesthesiology.

Anesthesiology is the medical specialty concerned with the total perioperative care of patients before, during, and after surgery. It encompasses anesthesia, intensive care medicine, critical emergency medicine, and pain medicine. Anesthesiologists have the primary responsibility of monitoring the patient's vital signs during surgery. In addition to basic measurements such as pulse, blood pressure, and temperature, they measure the patient's respiration.
