After a 3 year Hiatus, the seemingly genre-less musician will make a comeback with an impactful message. “Man on a mission” represents a newfound motivation we get when we realize life is too short to be living someone else’s dreams, or playing it safe by living to society standards. The 31 year old often mentions how age is nothing but a number and how success has no timetable.

“Where you are in life right now, will not always be a reflection of the work you put in. I truly believe that”. Zeus emphasizes. “We often get caught up on how we need to reach a successful milestone at a certain age. I feel like I’m in my prime at 31 because of all the knowledge I’ve gained in my 20s.”

ZeusABNS released his debut mixtape “Nodafications” in 2019. Due to Covid, he decided to step back from music. He explains how being in quarantine took away from his creativity and gave him sort of a writers block. This must be his way of saying “I’M BACK!”
