A 6-year-old patient from India had been struggling with food allergies from childhood, experiencing a wide range of symptoms, from skin rashes and digestive issues to more severe reactions like dizziness and loss of consciousness. The child was not able to cope with daily action, cities like playing with friends, and being active at school or studies, and his peaceful sleep was also taken a stake, their parents were worried and had tried all the conventional medicines they knew, but they didn't find relief from the limitations that allergies imposed on daily life, hence the patient's parents opted for Ayurvedic treatment for their son's cure, and they sought out IAFA Ayurveda® for an alternative solution.

Dr. Sahil Gupta, a renowned Ayurvedic Allergy Specialist made a diagnosis of Food Allergy in this child during an online Ayurvedic consultation, a very common allergy found in many children nowadays due to environmental changes and compromised immune systems.

IAFA Ayurveda®'s team of expert Ayurvedic practitioners conducted a thorough assessment of the patient's body constitution, birth medical history, dietary habits, and the types of foods he's allergic to.
