FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 1ST: WOMEN'S HEALTH & HEALING EXPO

A space to talk about health issues that disproportionately affect women in the LGBTQ+ community. Multiple health organizations will be providing education on access, treatment, and prevention as well as free screening for HIV and STI's.

SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 2ND: CONCERT

Main act by Jozzy with additional performances by Deja B. and Shiva Soulit.
DJ: Beelax from ATL Dash Radio empowerment, music, and wellness as the i2i Health and Healing Weekend descends upon Atlanta, Georgia, on September 1st and 2nd. This two-day extravaganza promises to be a transformative experience, celebrating women, addressing health disparities, and featuring a headline performance by Love Records Grammy Award Winning Artist Jozzy.

Empowerment and Education Unite: Women's Health and Healing Expo

Kickstarting the event on Friday, September 1, is the Women's Health and Healing Expo. A platform to champion the cause of women's health, this space allows candid conversations about health issues that disproportionately impact women, particularly within the LGBTQ+ community. This expo is a beacon of support, enabling discussions on vital subjects and fostering a sense of unity and solidarity among attendees.

Addressing Disparities: Access, Treatment, and Prevention

Prominent health organizations will converge at the expo, offering invaluable insights into access, treatment, and prevention strategies. Attendees can engage with experts to better understand women's health challenges and emerging solutions. The event aims to bridge the information gap and empower attendees to take charge of their health journeys.

Taking Action: Free HIV and STI Screenings

In a resounding commitment to community well-being, the i2i Health and Healing Weekend proudly offers complimentary screenings for HIV and STIs. The event aims to obliterate stigma, increase awareness, and promote a proactive approach to health management by providing these essential services. These screenings are vital to ensuring a healthier future for all women, transcending societal boundaries.

Unforgettable Concert Experience with Jozzy

The excitement continues on September 2, as Love Records Grammy Award Winning Artist Jozzy takes the stage to captivate and inspire. Jozzy's chart-topping hits and electrifying performances promise an evening of music, unity, and celebration. Her presence exemplifies the event's strength, healing, and empowerment values.

About Community Education Group (CEG)

Established in 1993, Community Education Group (CEG) emerged as a not-for-profit agency, initially known as the National Women and HIV/AIDS Project (NWAP), focused on addressing the needs of women in the face of HIV/AIDS. Today, CEG's scope of work extends to rural health disparities, collaborating with for-profit and nonprofit entities to enhance healthcare access for communities of color and women.

Community Education Group's Invisible to Invincible Project (CEG I2I)

The Invisible to Invincible Project (I2I), an initiative by the Community Education Group, presents a day-long Women's Health and Healing Expo embedded within Black Pride Festivals in Atlanta and Dallas. This event provides free health screenings, including blood pressure, glucose, HIV & STI testing, targeting health disparities within the black LGBTQ+ community. Your participation is instrumental in shaping I2I's success and promoting health and wellness.
