Be a part of an extraordinary milestone in the world of entrepreneurship. The Women's Startup Competition, an esteemed annual startup competition in Europe and South East Asia is breaking new ground as it sets foot in Africa for the very first time. This momentous launch promises to reshape the future of women-led innovation on the continent, and we want you to be a part of it!

"I am very proud and very happy that with Lebo Mashaba's help we can finally launch our initiative in Africa. We would like to see gender equality being effectively promoted as a first step towards the adoption of the following diversifications, such as age, geographical and other categories. The general experience shows that the more diverse a startup is, the more chances it has to succeed and the first step is to give women a better chance." said Tamás Müller, founder of the Women Startup Competition.
