

Sun Point Foundation Introduces a Team of Masters Candidate Therapists Offering Sliding Scale Counseling Services

Lancaster, Pennsylvania Aug 14, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Sun Point Foundation, a leading mental health and wellness organization, is excited to announce the addition of a talented group of Masters Candidate Therapists (MCTs) to its foundation. This new team of therapists is committed to providing high-quality counseling services on a sliding scale and pro bono basis, reaffirming Sun Point Foundation's dedication to making mental health support accessible to all individuals.

The MCTs joining the Sun Point Foundation team bring a diverse range of backgrounds, experiences, and expertise. These dedicated professionals have undergone rigorous training and are currently pursuing their master's degrees in counseling, ensuring that clients receive care that is informed by the latest research and best practices in the field. The MCTs' bios can be found on the Sun Point Foundation website at <https://www.sunpointwellness.com/our-therapists>, where individuals seeking counseling can learn more about their unique qualifications and areas of focus.

The list of newly certified MCTs includes:

Kimberlee Cinko brings a compassionate and holistic approach to counseling, drawing from her background in exploring mindfulness, nature, and literature. Her dedication to creating a safe and non-judgmental space allows clients to explore their challenges and work toward healing. Kim's clients often describe her as warm, collaborative, flexible, and eclectic.

Roberto Wingfield possesses a wealth of expertise treating trauma, ADHD, mood disorders, depression, as well as intimate relationships, Roberto brings forth a multifaceted and comprehensive skill set to the forefront. He is passionate about serving marginalized populations and is committed to helping clients navigate life transitions and build resilience.

Karen Keating's clients enjoy a profound sense of comfort in her practice, characterizing her as compassionate, accessible, and unbiased. She enters the therapeutic space equipped with a sense of inquisitiveness, a steadfast attribute that underscores her dedication to honoring each person's distinct path. Anchored in healing-centered and strengths-based methodologies, Karen's therapeutic approach seamlessly integrates cognitive behavioral therapy to craft personalized treatment strategies tailored to individual requirements.

Lea Denlinger emerges as a compassionate and devoted therapist, fortified by a profound grasp of the pivotal role secure connections play in fostering mental health and overall well-being. Within her therapeutic space, Lea extends an open invitation to individuals, couples, and families striving to navigate challenging patterns, fostering an environment where they can not only confront these challenges but also flourish in their life journeys.

Toby Unger stands as a resolute therapist, skillfully merging an engaged treatment methodology with holistic healing principles to form a distinctive and influential therapeutic approach. Possessing a deep comprehension of the intricacies of the human journey, Toby collaborates with individuals, couples, and families within her counseling space, orchestrating an environment conducive to growth and profound transformation.

Andrew Schofield's experience in mindfulness-based counseling allows clients to explore their thoughts and emotions in the present moment. His client-centered approach fosters self-awareness and personal growth, leading to improved overall well-being.

The addition of these talented MCTs to the Sun Point Foundation team aligns perfectly with the organization's mission to provide accessible mental health support to all individuals, regardless of their financial circumstances. The sliding scale and pro bono counseling options ensure that anyone seeking help can receive the assistance they need without barriers.

"We are thrilled to welcome this exceptional group of Masters Candidate Therapists to our team," said Laura Morse, Founder and CEO of Sun Point Foundation. "Their dedication to serving the community and their commitment to ongoing learning truly embody our organization's values. By offering sliding scale and pro bono services, we hope to remove financial barriers and make quality mental health care available to a wider range of individuals."

Sun Point Foundation encourages individuals seeking counseling or therapy to explore the MCTs' profiles on the website and reach out to book sessions. With this new team of qualified, compassionate therapists, the foundation reaffirms its position as a leader in promoting mental health and well-being for all.
