New York City, New York Sep 26, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - Passionate about excellent patient care,

Dr. Parden is affiliated with Jackson Hospital, serving patients in Montgomery, Alabama.

One of the focal points of his practice is limb salvage, a crucial aspect of preventing amputations in patients facing vascular challenges. His dedication to preserving the functionality of limbs reflects his unwavering commitment to improving the quality of life for those he serves. In addition, he specializes in various areas of vascular surgery, including carotid artery surgery, aneurysm repair, treatment of peripheral arterial disease, and creating dialysis access for patients in need.

Before embarking on his professional journey, Dr. Pardon earned his Bachelor of Arts (BA) in Economics from The University of Alabama in 2004 and then went on to achieve his Doctor of Medicine (MD) degree from the University of Alabama at Birmingham in 2009. His journey continued with a fellowship at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, further honing his skills and expertise before embarking on his career as a vascular surgeon in Mississippi.

An authority in his field, the doctor is board-certified in vascular surgery and general surgery by the American Board of Surgery (ABS). The ABS is an independent, non-profit organization located in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, founded for the purpose of certifying surgeons who have met a defined standard of education, training, and knowledge.

Vascular surgery is a surgical subspecialty in which diseases of the vascular system, including the arteries, veins, and lymphatic circulation, are managed by medical therapy, minimally invasive catheter procedures, and surgical reconstruction. A vascular surgeon diagnoses, treats, and manages conditions in the arteries and veins, also called the blood vessels. These specialists treat a range of health problems, from spider and varicose veins to life-threatening aneurysms, and can help patients manage chronic conditions throughout their lives.
