

MAVEK and SAP Join Forces to Host 5th Webinar on the Global Semiconductor Industry

Hong Kong, Hong Kong S.A.R. Sep 17, 2023 (IssueWire.com) - MAVEK, an investment bank specializing in cross-border transactions, hosts the final global webinar series with SAP, Europe's largest software company. This webinar series, now in its 5th installment, is centered on the global semiconductor industry, a pivotal sector in today's technology-driven world.

Over the past series, the event has brought together distinguished figures from the global chip industry, as well as prominent politicians, policy makers, consultants, and analysts. The aim is to thoroughly discuss and analyze critical aspects of the semiconductor landscape, making this series a cornerstone event in the industry.

The past webinars featured influential speakers who shared their perspectives on the industry's future and its relationship with political dynamics. Notable figures such as former US International Trade Commission Chairwoman Paula Stern, White House advisor Clyde Prestowitz, incumbent Senator Masahisa Sato from Japan, Lawmaker Yang, Hyang-ja from South Korea, and Minister John Deng from Taiwan have provided valuable insights to the global executive audience.

This webinar series boasts a wide-reaching audience, with executives from more than 400 global chip companies and related governmental bodies actively participating and watching, underlining its significance and influence in the industry.

The upcoming 5th webinar is anticipated to be a culmination of the insights and knowledge gathered from the previous series. It will provide a comprehensive summary of the key takeaways, developments, and trends that have significantly influenced the global semiconductor industry over the past year.

James Khoo, a Partner at MAVEK, highlighted the growing importance of semiconductor technology in the current geopolitical landscape. It's evident that semiconductor technology is now a critical factor in international affairs, and this collaborative webinar series plays a crucial role in understanding and navigating its impact.

This 5th installment of the MAVEK-SAP Global Chip Webinar Series promises to offer unparalleled insights into the semiconductor industry, its challenges, and its future prospects. The event aims to bring together key stakeholders to foster collaboration, innovation, and global understanding.
