THINKWARE representative comments: 'Black Friday really marks the start of the festive season. With just a month to go until Christmas, it's time to take control of your gift list, but with the cost-of-living crisis still making itself felt across the UK, we thought we'd give our customers a little helping hand.

'With deals and discounts on some of our most popular dash cam models, including high-resolution dash cams, and all-round vision cameras, there should be something in the Black Friday sale for every dash cam shopper. And with demand for dash cams massively rising, hopefully, we'll be helping to make a lot of happy faces around the Christmas tree this year!'
