New York City, New York Dec 19, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - An established cardiologist, Dr. Seecharran is affiliated with Middletown Medical PC, and serves as the Director of the Cardiac Rehabilitation Program at Orange Regional Medical Center. His specialization encompasses a range of advanced procedures, including nuclear cardiology, echocardiography, transesophageal echocardiography, and exercise stress testing.

Pertaining to his educational pursuits, he earned his medical degree from the United Medical and Dental Schools of Guy's and St. Thomas's Hospitals in London, England. The commitment to excellence and patient care that would define his career was evident even in his early years, as he chose to stay in England for his internship and residency in internal medicine.

Continuing his pursuit of medical knowledge and expertise, Dr. Seecharran ventured across the Atlantic to the University of Connecticut School of Medicine. There, he not only served as a resident of internal medicine but also ascended to the position of Fellow in Cardiology.

As a testament to his success, the doctor is board-certified in echocardiography and nuclear cardiology.

Professionally, his commitment to community well-being extends to his active participation in volunteering at food banks, teaching medical students with Toro college of osteopathic medicine and past president for the American Heart Association, where his expertise contributes to shaping strategies for cardiovascular health awareness and advocacy.

Cardiology is a branch of medicine that deals with the disorders of the heart, as well as some parts of the circulatory system. The field includes medical diagnosis and treatment of congenital heart defects, coronary artery disease, heart failure, valvular heart disease, and electrophysiology. Cardiologists are doctors who diagnose, assess, and treat patients with diseases and defects of the heart and blood vessels (the cardiovascular system).

In his free time, Dr. Seecharran enjoys reading classical literature, art, and playing tennis.
