They have offered various services for their clients including social media engagement, a wide range of marketing, and content publications to make your music more popular. Based on your preferences and your budget you can choose from your plethora of services which includes platforms like SoundCloud and YouTube, apart from their content writing services they also will provide you EPKs to promote your song even further and greatly.

For a SoundCloud artist, it is not easy to get recognized on a daunting platform like such, and it is easier for a YouTube artist to get more views. And this is why music promotion services are essential to get your songs noticed by the world. If the number 400k SoundCloud followers and 200K social media followers entice you then you must try their services. This is a simple game of promotions where people who are into the sort of music you make will get to know about your releases. Based on your audience demographics you will get your audience selected, if you are aiming for the world then too they can help you to become a global music icon.

Go to their website and choose the category, whether you are going for SoundCloud Music Promotion or YouTube Music Promotion. Give your email ID at the designated box and click on the purple button "Get Started". On the next page, you will find a question-answer page where you have to fill in all the details about your preferences. In the first box, there is stating the platform, you can choose any one from YouTube, SoundCloud, and Other Music Promotions. Then you have to go to the plays section, here you will have to state how many plays you would like to have on your videos. For SoundCloud, you can opt for up to 150K plays. And the number will vary based on the platform you are choosing.

Next, there are more segments of content marketing, advertisements, and EPK. For content marketing, they have two press release options “Starter Press Release” and “Premium Press Release”. Apart from press releases, you can also go for music blogs, music reviews, artist interviews, and feature posts in a music magazine. The options you choose for content marketing you will have to only pay for it. There are no packages that will allow you to get everything at one click, this is a very detailed process and you can go for the attributes you are willing to purchase. Next, you will have advertisements; there are ads everywhere from Google to Facebook and Instagram. And your music can be in one of these advertisements to make it more popular.

Lastly, you can order an electronic press kit for your promotions. Making merchandizes can be extremely heavy on the pockets instead you can for this. This will be a refreshing option for your promotions, having an exclusive photo and personalized cover will surely going to be a great option for the promotions. In today's age, it is all about the façade and EPKs are going to your promotional façade and the boost of your success. You can order a 5-page EPK for $49 or an 8-page EPK at $78. Once you have everything selected pay for it and enjoy the services.
