Mumbai, Maharashtra Dec 2, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - IFSPD (www.ifspd.edu), the International Foundation of Sustainable Peace and Development, is a Europe based, preeminent international institution with representatives from over 50 nations, including distinguished intellectuals, diplomats and world leaders. The foundation is focused on analysing and solving the most pressing challenges of the world, by bringing together multi-stakeholder conversations.

The IFSPD Presidential Fellowship is the flagship youth program of IFSPD, with the overarching objective of nurturing exceptional young leaders who would bridge the differences in our world. This fellowship, which is amongst the most prestigious global fellowships, has been running for the last several years, where almost 20,000 aspirants apply from over 60 countries.

The IFSPD Presidential Fellowship 2024 is open now, where the current year themes are leadership, international relations and sustainable development. There are three different tracks – the fast track, which runs for 4 weeks, the intensive program running for 8 weeks and the full-fledged program, which is the IFSPD flagship program, running for 6 months. Every program is conducted online, through two copy righted methodologies to produce transformational results in the youth – the Global Agenda Councils, which bring together the fellows alongside experts to discuss, debate, synthesis and reach conclusions from multiple stakeholder perspectives on critical global issues and incubate projects for public good, and the Presidential Briefings, which bring together leading subject matter experts to fuel introspection, investigation and influence for the fellows - on the most pressing challenges, that would spark innovative solutions and bridge the differences in our world. The fees for all the tracks are heavily subsidized.

The IFSPD Presidential Fellowships 2024 are open for 14 to 30 year olds, ranging from high school students to early and mid-career career professionals. Fellows, who exhibit high potential and global outlook, are drawn through a stringent stage gated process from across the globe. The IFSPD Presidential Fellowships offer many benefits to the selected candidates, including leadership and analytical skills, reference letters and alumni networking. Faraban Diakite, a student from Canada, who was part of the 2023 cohort says that the IFSPD Presidential Fellowship gave him the much required differentiation, allowing him to apply to the IVY League Colleges, while Yash Singh from India, a senior researcher who was part of the 2022 cohort, commented that the IFSPD Presidential Fellowship value added to his professional career, enabling him to excel in the professional world through leadership skills and certification.

The IFSPD Presidential Fellowship 2024 is open from November last week, and the early applicants have a 30% higher chance of admissions. IFSPD follows a rolling applications review and the first cohort starts from early 2024. You can complete the application forms at <https://admin.gosurvey.in/survey/PF24>
