

Miriam's Earthen Cookware: First American company to offer All-Natural Clay water coolers & Purifiers

A New Era in Water Purification

Boston, Massachusetts Dec 6, 2023 (Issuewire.com) - In an era where the quest for purity, especially in our daily water consumption, has become an important goal for American families. Miriam's Earthen Cookware is proud to unveil the Miriam's Water Jar. This unique product stands out in the world of natural water purification, redefining the way we perceive and consume water in our daily lives.

Miriam's continues to stand out for their commitment to health, sustainability, and leveraging ancient wisdom for modern living. Crafted from 100% non-toxic, green, raw materials, this hand-made and hand-finished water jar is a marvel of both beauty and functionality. Designed and made in the USA without any glaze or iron oxide coating, the jar stands as a symbol of purity and environmental consciousness. In a market dominated by plastic and metal water purifiers, Miriam's Water Jar stands as an eco-friendly alternative. The use of natural clay, a renewable resource, and the absence of synthetic materials in its construction, make it a genuinely green choice for environmentally conscious consumers.

Crafting Purity: The Unique Design of Miriam's Water Jar

What sets Miriam's water jar apart is its unique "egg" shape design, meticulously crafted for both practicality and effectiveness. Unlike traditional clay water storage jars with bottleneck designs that complicate cleaning, Miriam's water jar features a wide mouth for effortless maintenance and a vented stand for easy placement anywhere in your home. One of the most distinctive features of the Miriam's water jar is its capability to heat water for sanitization, making it versatile for use on gas or open flame. This functionality is incomparable in the world of water purifiers, offering consumers an added layer of convenience and safety.

Alkalinity and Health: Balancing Water's pH Naturally

Furthermore, the jar's alkaline nature balances the pH of stored water, transforming it from acidic to neutral. This not only enhances the taste, making the water naturally sweeter but also contributes to its health benefits. The constant motion of water within the egg-shaped jar, powered by natural forces of heat and gravity, mirrors the energizing flow of natural springs, further purifying and revitalizing the water.

MEC's Water Jar is not just a product; it's a movement towards a healthier, more sustainable way of living. It challenges the conventional wisdom of water purification, offering a natural, effective solution that looks back to the purity of the past. As we continue to face challenges in finding pure, healthful water, Miriam's Earthen Cookware's Water Jar emerges as a standard of perfection. It's a reminder that sometimes, the best solutions are those that embrace the simplicity and wisdom of nature.
