Cartersville, Virginia Jan 21, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Hailing from counties like Powhatan and Cumberland, Luh Quis was born in Richmond. At the age of 10, Quis found his passion for music, and since then it has been an oscillating journey to prove his worth in the wider musical scenes. His ‘Dreams On Edibles’ has gained a lot of traction due to its beautiful soundscapes and widely fascinating narratives, his words are extremely relevant and resonate with the young generation. Another of his impressive tracks ‘Counseling’ offers an impressively blissful ambiance, the serene music followed by the gravitating rapping styles made the song extremely catchy.

Residing from his exclusive Pluggnb-influenced music genre, his music also offers several fascinating sounds of drums, 808s, synthesizers, pianos, and guitar riffs. He started to record songs at the age of 12 despite not having any proper instruments or knowledge. In his initial journey, he faced a hard time he continued to hone his skills and offer something which is not just enjoyable but also extremely unique in its formations. Some of Luh Quis' impressive releases include 'NFB', 'Mixed Up', 'Cruel World', 'Ain't Shit Changed', and 'Bandit'.

Since the beginning of his journey, he has been constantly evolving, learning, experimenting, and experiencing types of music and incredible ways to make a song. His song 'Counseling' allows you to experience the dichotomy of a song that allows you to witness the soothing vibes along with the fiery words at the same time. And not just his impressive writings in his 'Dreams on Edibles' allow us to witness the prolific nature of this budding artist and his limitless potential to thrive in this forte.
