

ScreenBroidery Embraces Workplace Innovation

Introduces 9-80 Work Schedule for Enhanced Employee Productivity and Work-Life Balance

Noblesville, Indiana Jan 8, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - ScreenBroidery, a leading provider of promotional products, branded apparel, and creative experiences in the Advertising Specialty industry, has announced a progressive shift in its work culture by adopting a 9-80 work schedule. Effective January 2, 2024, this initiative aims to empower employees with a flexible and efficient work arrangement while fostering increased productivity, better work-life balance, and improved customer experience.

The 9-80 work schedule allows ScreenBroidery employees to work extended hours within a two-week period, resulting in 80 hours spread over nine days instead of ten. Under this schedule, employees will work eight nine-hour days and one eight-hour day, resulting in a day off every other Friday.

This innovative approach creates several benefits for the customer, company, and its workforce. By providing an additional day off every other week, ScreenBroidery employees can enjoy a better work-life balance, reduce commuting time, and handle personal errands more efficiently. This schedule change increases job satisfaction, fewer distractions, and overall well-being.

"ScreenBroidery has always prioritized the well-being and satisfaction of our employees," said Tom Rector, CEO at ScreenBroidery. "We believe that people matter, and a balanced work-life dynamic not only enhances the happiness and productivity of our team members but also helps us live our values."

The 9-80 work schedule aligns with ScreenBroidery's dedication to innovation and adaptability, acknowledging the evolving needs of an empowered workforce. ScreenBroidery firmly believes this initiative will boost employee morale, enhance creativity and collaboration within the organization, and boost great company culture further. They expect to pave new ways of working for other companies within the promotional industry and beyond.
