With a new year comes the opportunity for local businesses to refresh their marketing strategies with new and improved tactics to make their business stand out. As part of their planning, custom signs in Los Angeles are an important advertising tool that cannot be overlooked. A range of impressive outdoor and indoor signs will set up businesses for success when it comes to enhancing advertising, branding, and the customer experience.

As a full-service Los Angeles sign company, LA Sign Studio recognizes that it can be daunting for business owners to select signs that will support their success. That's why their sign makers work with each of their clients to develop signage strategies that align with their needs and reflect trends of the current marketing landscape.

As we look ahead to 2024, these are the top five sign trends that the team at LA Sign Studio is anticipating will be prominent:

- QR codes: Window graphics, floor graphics, vehicle wraps in Los Angeles, banners, and more will incorporate QR codes to give customers a quick and easy way to access a business's online platforms. This pre-existing trend is one that saw great success this year, which is why it's likely to carry over into 2024.
- AI integration: When it comes to digital signage, businesses have an opportunity to take their signs one step further with artificial intelligence (AI). This integration will support businesses in delivering personalized messages to their customers that cater to their specific needs.
- Interactive digital signage: These types of signs create a unique experience for users and are changing the landscape for the way people engage with businesses and craft their marketing efforts. By giving users a means to select the information that's relevant to them, businesses will be able to optimize the way their information is communicated.
- Sustainable signage: For businesses that desire to show their support for the environment, this can extend to the selection of Los Angeles sign companies that also support sustainable signage practices.
- Real-time data visualization: Today's savvy customers continue to become more data-driven. It's anticipated that more businesses will invest in digital signage that can educate potential customers and/or stakeholders on their company's success, growth, and other key data to support data-driven decision-making.

Businesses in Los Angeles that are looking to explore these trends and other effective signage options for the upcoming year are encouraged to reach out to LA Sign Studio for support.
