

Autism Center of Excellence Introduces Autism Early Intervention Program in Fayetteville, to Support the Local Community

The Autism Center of Excellence (AutismCOE) is expanding its support for children with autism in Fayetteville, North Carolina, through a variety of specialized programs.

Fayetteville, North Carolina Mar 24, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - The Autism Center of Excellence (AutismCOE) is extremely excited to announce the beginning of its outstanding Autism Early Intervention Program right in the heart of Fayetteville. The program is aimed at delivering vital support and services to children on the autism spectrum and the families that care for them.

AutismCOE being acclaimed for its innovative Model of Autism Care and Research, will address the issue of deficiency of Autism early intervention services for children with ASD. A newly created enterprise will provide targeted interventions, therapies, and additional services to children aged 2-6 years with a view to enhancing their development and the quality of their lives.

"It's a privilege to extend our services to Fayetteville residents through the commencement of our Autism Early Intervention Program, Esha Bhasin, CEO of AutismCOE said. "Early intervention is recognized as an essential component for improving the outcomes of autism spectrum disorders. Thus, the provision of specialized services at a critical phase of a child's development will help the co-parenting units to navigate the difficulties of ASD with resilience and confidence."

This program will utilize an interdisciplinary team of skilled and experienced professionals, who are board-certified behavior analysts, speech-language pathologists, occupational therapists, and developmental psychologists. Together, they will devise individualized treatment concretely based on each child's unique attributes and expectations.

Furthermore, AutismCOE's program will partake in intensive parent coaching and training to give parents a chance to learn how to assist their child in achieving optimum growth. Parental participation is of high importance in early intervention and AutismCOE pledges continuous collaboration with families during different stages of their treatment.
