Lafayette, California Mar 19, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - In the recent interview of Dr. Maya Mitra Das through our Book Buzz TV Interview, she shared with us that she has three published books and three anthologies. It was highlighted in one of the segments of the interview about her featured book Echoes of the Past. Further, she describes the two main characters in the book, one who is a 14th to 15th-century artist and sculptor from Florence, Italy. The other one is a 20th to 21st-century doctor who specializes in neurosurgery. The catch as to one of the characters as narrated by Dr. Maya Mitra Das, was her classmate in medical school, and he became a character in the book.

Dr. Maya Mitra Das captivates her readers in her book Echoes of the Past and narrates the collaboration of the two renowned gentlemen in their generation, Niccolo and Rudy. Blended artistry unfolds in many aspects like how was their childhood, the struggles in life they have encountered, and the different emotions they have delved into while planning to reach their individual goals.

“My idea to choose these characters because Niccolo’s legacy is still in the artist community, and I want the present sculptors and artists to read and know about him, while for Dr. Rudy, as he was my friend and known him since his childhood life and how he stood up from struggle to become a neurosurgeon.”
