

El Borracho Tacos Raises the Vegan Taco Bar in Austin

Austin, Texas Mar 27, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Austin's South Congress just got a whole lot more delicious, and not just for dedicated carnivores. El Borracho Tacos, the new trailer generating buzz for its "crafted with love, fueled by chaos" approach, is defying expectations with the "Vega Amiga" – a vegan taco poised to become a legend.

Culinary Rebellion with Compassion: Don't be fooled by the playfully rebellious name. El Borracho Tacos harbors a surprising depth, spearheaded by co-owner and executive chef Jaden Gonzales. A self-proclaimed carnivore with a culinary school background steeped in plant-based mastery, Gonzales' respect for the vegan community shines through in the "Vega Amiga." It's not just an afterthought – it's a meticulously crafted homage to their signature "El Borracho" taco, designed to tantalize taste buds regardless of dietary restrictions.

"We are not a vegan taco trailer, but a lot of our friends are vegan so we wanted to make sure we had something that would change their lives when they tasted it." - Tommy Marquez CEO/co-owner boasts Meati, a plant-based protein derived from mushroom root, that sizzles with a texture that would fool even the most discerning palate. But the magic doesn't stop there. Meat gets a deep dive into El Borracho's secret marinade, imbuing it with its signature blend of spices and aromas. A vibrant salsa, tangy chimichurri, and a shower of microgreens complete this flavorful masterpiece.

The "Vega Amiga": A Flavor Powerhouse: This isn't your average veggie taco. The "Vega Amiga"

A Testament to Innovation: The "Vega Amiga" is more than just a delicious taco; it's a testament to El Borracho's commitment to innovation and inclusivity. They're shattering the stereotype of bland vegan options, proving that plant-based cuisine can be just as exciting and satisfying as its meat-based counterparts.

Ready to Experience the Revolution? Head down to El Borracho Tacos and see what the "Vega Amiga" is all about. It might just redefine your perception of vegan tacos forever.

Media Contact

Viva El Borracho LLC.

info@elborrachotacos.com

Source : El Borracho Tacos

See on IssueWire