Get to know Cardiologist Dr. Theodore Bass, who serves patients in Jacksonville, Florida.

New York City, New York Mar 19, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - A top professional in the field of interventional cardiology, Dr. Bass is affiliated with UF Health, seeing patients at their two Cardiovascular Centers in Jacksonville, Florida. His areas of focus include cardiac catheterization, heart attack, complex coronary angioplasty, Hypertrophic Cardiomyopathy and more.

Before embarking on his professional journey, he received his medical degree from The Warren Alpert Medical School of Brown University in 1976. In order to further his training, he completed his residency in internal medicine at the Mayo Graduate School of Medicine in 1979, and his fellowship in cardiovascular disease at the Boston University Medical Center in 1981.

Subsequent to his education, the doctor attained board certification in interventional cardiology, cardiovascular disease, and internal medicine through the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM). The ABIM is a physician-led, non-profit, independent evaluation organization driven by doctors who want to achieve higher standards for better care in a rapidly changing world.

With a passion for teaching, Dr. Bass has served as a Professor of Medicine at the University of Florida since 1998.

Cardiology is a branch of medicine that deals with the disorders of the heart, as well as some parts of the circulatory system. The field includes medical diagnosis and treatment of congenital heart defects, coronary artery disease, heart failure, valvular heart disease, and electrophysiology. Cardiologists are doctors who diagnose, assess, and treat patients with diseases and defects of the heart and blood vessels (the cardiovascular system).
