

Trade Publication Sustainable Food Business Emerges as an Essential Resource for Food Sustainability & Sourcing Leaders

Sustainable Food Business delivers the latest sustainability news and insights in the food and beverage industry. Launched last year, it specifically caters to senior sustainability and sourcing managers within this sphere.

Albuquerque, New Mexico Mar 13, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Sustainable Media Group LLC is thrilled to announce the launch of Sustainable Food Business, a new trade publication designed to serve the rapidly evolving needs of the food industry's sustainability and sourcing professionals. The new digital platform, accessible at <https://sustainablefoodbusiness.com/>, offers comprehensive coverage of the latest trends, insights, and developments on sustainability initiatives within the global food and beverage sector.

Key features of the new website include:

- Reporting the latest news on responsible sourcing, innovative packaging solutions, waste management, energy efficiency, and logistical advancements of the world's leading food and beverage companies.
- Insights from industry leaders and experts driving sustainability initiatives across the food and beverage landscape.
- Timely reporting on developments and trends that shape the future of sustainability in the food industry.

Sustainable Food Business emerges as a vital resource amidst a growing consumer shift towards brands with ESG claims, which, according to a McKinsey study, accounts for 56% of all category growth over the past five years. Above all lies a commitment to delivering accurate, pertinent, and timely content that supports industry professionals as they adapt to the evolving demands of consumers for sustainable food options.

The publication invites users to discover its website and subscribe to its newsletter for up-to-date news, analysis, and insights delivered straight to their email. Additionally, Sustainable Food Business can be followed on LinkedIn, where the latest updates are directly delivered within users' professional networks.

To submit press releases and company news, contact info@sustainablefoodbusiness.com.

About Sustainable Media Group LLC:

Sustainable Media Group LLC is a U.S.-based company dedicated to providing the food and beverage industry with critical insights and analysis on sustainability trends. Through its latest venture, Sustainable Food Business, the company aims to become a premier digital news source for professionals striving to incorporate sustainable practices into their operations.

Media Contact

Sustainable Food Business

sofiya@sustainablefoodbusiness.com

Source : Sustainable Food Business

See on IssueWire