

Hochman & Goldin, P.A. Assists with Speeding and Civil Traffic Tickets

Hochman & Goldin, P.A., a prominent name in the legal industry, helps clients with their speeding and civil traffic tickets.

Miami, Florida May 9, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Understanding the complexity and layers of traffic rules can be a daunting task, but Hochman & Goldin takes the frustration out of the flusters by offering a flat fee service. For a nominal fee of $69 per civil violation, they will provide a Miami traffic ticket lawyer who will rigorously work to pursue the dismissal of your case. It should be noted, however, that this fee doesn't include any imposed court costs.

Hochman & Goldin hold a firm commitment to ensuring that their clients save as much time as possible, and for that very reason, they lessen the burden on those who have landed themselves a civil traffic ticket. As part of their comprehensive service package, a representative from the law firm will attend all courtroom appearances, thereby eliminating the inconvenience for clients and saving them a substantial amount of time.

In comparison to the traditional approach of dealing with traffic tickets – attending traffic school – the service extends far beyond just cutting costs. With the traffic school alternative, not only do violators need to pay the full ticket price, but they also must bear the cost of the traffic school and devote four hours to it. Moreover, despite these steps, the infraction still becomes a part of their driving record. Hochman & Goldin provide a more time-efficient and cost-effective solution to these civil infraction matters.

With a solid reputation built on years of professional assistance to thousands of satisfied clients, Hochman & Goldin is dedicated to delivering reliable solutions that save their clients' time, and money, and most importantly, preserve their driving record. Their innovative approach to handling speeding and civil traffic tickets distinctly positions them as a leader in their industry, reaffirming their dedication to client satisfaction and legal excellence.
