

MoonAir Revolutionises Cooling Solutions with Suresh Raina as Brand Ambassador

Ghaziabad, Uttar Pradesh Apr 21, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - In a major leap forward for affordable home comfort, MoonAir, a leading provider of air cooling solutions, has announced its partnership with renowned cricketer Suresh Raina as its brand ambassador. This collaboration is set to enhance MoonAir's visibility and appeal across all Indian markets, emphasizing the brand's commitment to quality and exceptional customer service.

MoonAir is known for its innovative approach to air cooling, offering products that are not only highly effective but also extremely cost-effective. The company's latest range of air coolers is designed to suit the diverse needs of Indian households, ensuring comfort during the hot summer months without straining the budget.

"We are thrilled to have Suresh Raina join our MoonAir family. His dedication and cool demeanor on the cricket field resonate with our brand values of reliability and accessibility," stated Mr Rajeev Kr Garg, MD of MoonAir. "With Suresh's endorsement, we aim to reach every household in India, providing them with the comfort they deserve at prices they can afford."

MoonAir also takes pride in its comprehensive all-India home service network. This initiative guarantees that customers receive timely and efficient service and support, ensuring that their coolers operate at peak efficiency with minimal downtime.

In celebration of this partnership, MoonAir is launching a special promotion through their website. Customers can learn more about their innovative products and take advantage of exclusive online offers by visiting MoonAir's official website.
