

New Video NFT Collection Featuring Grammy Winning Artist Offers Glimpse Into Deep Space

NFT Video Raises Money For Educational Opportunities for Women in STEAM, Features Space Images From NASA, Music From Kaya Jones

Orlando, Florida May 22, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - The JACY Project announces the upcoming release of a video NFT collection combining breathtaking space visuals with inspiring vocals and lyrics from gospel artist Kaya Jones.

The limited-edition NFT is a collaborative effort between retired NASA Senior Executive Geoff Yoder and esteemed video director Ed Paten. The images are set to Jones' song "Royal," which she co-wrote with Ish Beloso, lead builder of The Jacy Project.

The "Royal" NFT is the first release from JACY Science, a specialized subgroup of The JACY Project. The "Royal" NFT collection is underpinned by valuable cryptocurrencies, including JACY, VXV, and SBIO personally contributed by Beloso to support future developments in JACY Science. VXV and SBIO are the utility and equity (pending SEC approval) tokens from Kasian Franks' Vector Space Biosciences, which aligns well with the goals of JACY Science.

Additionally, The JACY Project has committed to donating 50% of the proceeds from 'Royal' NFT sales to promote educational opportunities for women in Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Mathematics (STEAM). Yoder will play a key role in identifying the benefitting organization. This pledge reflects JACY's broader mission to empower underrepresented groups and promote equality within these essential disciplines.

In addition to combining the “art” and “technology” components of STEAM, the 'Royal' video NFT is a significant stride towards impacting the community positively and shaping the future of education in STEAM fields.

The NFT collection will be available for purchase on June 3, providing enthusiasts of music, art, and technology an opportunity to own a part of this groundbreaking collaboration. More than a fusion of art and technology, “Royal” allows holders to positively impact the community and help shape the future of education in STEAM fields.
