About SecureLabs:

SecureLabs understands the challenges businesses face in navigating the complex landscape of regulatory compliance and risk management. Their mission is to simplify critical processes, empowering organizations to achieve and maintain compliance effortlessly while mitigating risks effectively.

SecureLabs was born out of a vision to simplify governance, risk, and compliance (GRC) for organizations making it approachable for all employees. Their cutting-edge platform harnesses the power of automation and advanced chain of thought, streamlining compliance tasks and risk assessments to save time, reduce costs, and minimize the potential for human error.

About JK Harris & Associates:

JKH, a small disadvantaged, and minority-owned consulting company, stands as a leading solutions integrator specializing in tailored software solutions managed through collaboration and knowledge/project management. Leveraging information and technology, JKH maximizes outcomes and enhances value for Federal, State, Local Government, and Commercial organizations. Our Integrated Solutions, Professional Services, and Subject Matter Experts (SME) employ cutting-edge technologies and industry methodologies to address various challenges including AI Integration, Product Development, Project Management, Financial and Data Analytics, Process Re-engineering, Health IT, Logistics, and Mental Health Disorder Training. Our unwavering commitment to our clients' missions consistently yields extraordinary results.

We excel in aligning business processes with technology, with a core focus on team-based solutions. By fostering synergy between our clients (partners), the domain experts, and ourselves—the software experts—we add value to all business partners involved. Our approach prioritizes collaborative requirement analysis and rapid prototyping, a winning formula for both business and software development.

Though we are many voices, we operate as a single, unified force, welding technical expertise, creativity, and agility to propel us forward, farther and faster, ensuring successful project completion.
