Ocean Beach is an area that extends south to Sunset Cliffs from the San Diego River. The area is renowned among visitors for sunbathing and surfing. Affectionately known as OB among locals, the scenic sandy city beach boasts the archetypal laidback beach vibe of SoCal.

Different sections can be found in Ocean Beach, including an area exclusively for swimming, another solely for surfing, as well as a dog-friendly spot where pets are still required to be on a leash.

The half-mile-long OB Pier, one of California's longest, is found at the southern tip of the beach. The place is famous for fishing and doesn't require a license combined with sweeping views of the entire city.

Lifeguards monitor the beach, with the main lifeguard station located in one of the several car parks that the public can use for free on Santa Monica Ave and Abbott Street. Favorite activities on Ocean Beach include sunbathing, walking, running, surfing, tide pooling, fishing, volleyball, and bonfires in the provided pits.
