

American Heelers Launches New Website with Enhanced Features and Fresh Look

American Heelers specializes in helping people with leg length differences through innovative design and precision application.

Beachwood, Ohio Jun 25, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - American Heelers, a leading provider of shoe modifications for individuals with leg length discrepancies, is excited to announce the launch of its newly revamped website. The new site is live and boasts a modern design, enhanced functionality, and a range of new features to improve the user experience.

The redesigned website showcases a comprehensive gallery of shoes that American Heelers has modified, allowing visitors to explore examples of their work. Users can easily search by brand, style, and lift size to find modifications that suit their needs. This visual showcase highlights the expert craftsmanship and attention to detail that American Heelers is known for.

In addition to the extensive gallery, the new website offers a convenient section where visitors can request free shipping and informational packets. This packet provides all the necessary materials for customers to send their shoes to American Heelers for modification. The streamlined process ensures that customers have a hassle-free experience from start to finish.

For those eager to get their shoes modified without delay, the website also includes a feature to print the shipping label and order form directly. This allows customers to quickly and efficiently send their shoes for modification, ensuring timely and accurate service.

"We are thrilled to unveil our new website, which looks great and offers enhanced functionality for our customers," said Ilya Romanov, President of American Heelers. "Our goal is to make the shoe modification process as easy and convenient as possible, and we believe the new features will significantly improve the overall customer experience."

American Heelers invites everyone to visit the new website and explore the wide range of services and resources available. The user-friendly interface and additional features reflect the company's commitment to providing top-notch service and support to individuals with leg length discrepancies. About American Heelers:

American Heelers specializes in helping people with leg length differences through innovative design and precision application. We modify all types of footwear with orthopedic shoe lifts and orthopedic heel lifts to compensate for leg length inequality. By splitting the sole, adding a build-up, tapering the toe, and reattaching the original bottom, we create an aesthetically appealing look while alleviating pain in the foot, leg, hip, and back.
