

Bate Nate H Is Raging Up A Storm in the UK Music Industry with His Latest Hits

Bate Nate H has been recognized for his impeccable fashion sense by many but this time his soul-captivating potential in music is grabbing all the attention as well.

London, Jun 19, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - London is being taken over by a storm led by none other than the maestro Bate Nate H, also known as 'Prince Nate'. With more than thirty-one thousand followers on Instagram, this artist is gearing up to rock out not just the UK but the whole world. Coming from a humble background, his start was surrounded by rough patches he had ended up in jail four times before he had turned eighteen and was well known by the local authority for theft and drug dealing.

His life drastically changed after his daughter was born and the artist decided to dedicate himself to his music production only. For the last four years, he has been hell-bent on making a name for him which helped him to get noticed and signed to New York record label Bentley Records in 2017. Bate Nate H's latest releases 'My Ex Say' and 'Can't Keep Up' are raising a storm among his fans as these two tracks have set the artist to a new height.

Even though both of the tracks are similar in their sense of emotions of resentment and struggles, 'My Ex Say' speaks more about a love relationship gone wrong and how two people who were so in love before are now full of resentment for each other. Whereas the second track 'Can't Keep Up' is more about his journey and growth. The struggle he has been going through since his childhood. All of his tracks are available on Spotify, Apple Music, YouTube, and SoundCloud. The artist can be visited on his profiles on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter.
