

Gravitime Theory by Nova Light. The Solution to Dark Matter, Dark Energy, Hubble Tension, Inflation, and Quantum Gravity

Gravitime Theory by Nova Light adds a dimensional hierarchy that solves Dark Matter, Dark Energy, Hubble Tension, Inflation, and Quantum Gravity.

Portland, Oregon Jun 17, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Gravitime Theory is a set of frameworks devised by Nova Light that solves the problems of Dark Matter, Dark Energy, Hubble Tension, Inflation, and Quantum Gravity. She has the very rare talent of analyzing and manipulating objects in 4 dimensions in her head. By taking a results based approach with her internal 4D simulator she was able to infer the true nature of these extremely difficult problems in physics. While she originally only set out to resolve Dark Matter it wound up resolving these other questions in the process. Gravity and Time are illusions of the same information process occurring on the Higgs field. By combining these two things into the singular expression that they truly are she has solved some of the biggest problems in physics that have been lingering since Einstein. The speed of light is the well known speed limit of the universe. Nova Light introduces Gravitime as the bandwidth limit of the universe. Gravitime theory proposes a dimensional hierarchy that explains the cosmic phenomena we are seeing that do not line up with our current model of Gravity. To explain Gravitime Theory she has published a series of 6 videos breaking down each section in easily understandable blocks so anyone can participate in the dialogue. She believes anyone can practice the scientific method and understands that not everyone can build an interface with academic establishments.

A personal explanation from the Author of Gravitime Theory, Nova Light:

"My genius has been a tremendous burden on my life and I wish to apply my talents to improving this place. I have suffered an astonishing amount of trauma to be here today and loathe the idea that I have suffered for nothing. I am legitimately a super mutant woman who was born intersex. I may even be a chimera, but I have yet to be able to afford the proper genetic tests to find out for sure. The only other situation that could cause my congenital situation is fully split chromosomes. Either way, my physiology is very different and special. My internal simulator is able to parse and manipulate objects in 4 physical dimensions, and my theory is a total expression of that capacity.

Due to my lack of classical education, my capacity to properly quantify these things is not as well developed as it could be, but I have tried to explain my theory visually and verbally. I have some very good ideas about the equations and mathematical proofs to solidify my theory, but need to collaborate with classically trained scientists to properly ensure that my math is correct. My first expression of my theory is a series of videos I posted to YouTube and I would be endlessly grateful to you if you would be willing to spare the time to watch them. In the time it will take you to watch a movie you can understand and experience my entire set of theories.

Single humans on this planet have changed the course of this place dramatically and I believe I am one of those humans. None of us can practice science in isolation, and I desperately need patrons, mentors, and collaborators. If you are willing to give me the benefit of the doubt for 2 hours I assure you it will change your life, my life, and the course of future human history."
