

House djs need no longer search for photography solutions:Impact a and e

Chicago, Illinois Jun 9, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Yesterday's dreams are tomorrow's reality.

Impact A and E was founded last year in Oregon to make movies and after the creation of cocaine werewolf (a short film created by Curtis Van Driesche), the founder decided to focus on new horizons. Learning to adjust in Chicago was a different environment at first but after 3 weeks Impact A and E were in business. Specializing in EDM events the photographer also does headshots for social profile live streams and events after movies.

It's an exciting new start for the entrepreneur. The streets of Chicago are full of media opportunities new actors and locations to film. Yesterday's dreams are tomorrow's reality for sure.

A new introspective unique project about what musically drives a DJ is in the hopper in addition to dark deals (feature film) which has been worked on for some time.

There's a lot of depth in the workings and electronic music has depth as well. Focusing on the connection between the DJ and the crowd the show will always have a special place for the pro photographer.
