Jackson, New Jersey Jun 20, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - John F. Marchisotto Exposes Deep-Seated Corruption Within New Jersey State Attorney General's Office and U.S. Courts. Plaintiff John F. Marchisotto demands criminal prosecution for key officials within the New Jersey State Attorney General's Office, the United States District Court of New Jersey, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, urging Americans to support President Donald J. Trump for judicial reform.

John F. Marchisotto, a vigilant advocate for judicial integrity, has filed crucial legal documents that uncover extensive corruption and judicial misconduct by prominent figures in the New Jersey State Attorney General's Office, the United States District Court of New Jersey, and the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. The allegations call for immediate criminal prosecution of these officials for their role in obstructing justice and abusing their power.

Unveiling Corruption: A Call for Accountability and Reform

John F. Marchisotto, acting pro se, has meticulously documented the actions of individuals such as Matthew J. Platkin, Attorney General of New Jersey; Deputy Attorneys General Natalie K. Dennis and Joseph Salvo; Chief Judge Renée Marie Bumb; and Chief Judge Michael Arthur Chagares. These officials are accused of procedural misconduct, manipulation of court processes, and deliberate obstruction of justice to shield themselves and their colleagues from accountability.

Legal Filings and Allegations

Location and Date: In filings dated June 11 and June 13, 2024, Marchisotto highlights the failure of these officials to respond to legal summonses and their manipulation of court filings to avoid scrutiny. His detailed Application for Clerk's Entry of Default and urgent request for judicial review outline the systemic corruption and ethical violations that undermine the judicial process and infringe upon his rights.

Evidence of Corruption

The evidence presented by Marchisotto points to a deliberate attempt by these officials to protect their interests at the expense of justice. Despite acknowledging receipt of Marchisotto's filings, the courts have failed to docket them, effectively stalling the judicial process and denying him a fair trial. Marchisotto's letter to the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit calls for immediate intervention to address these severe breaches of duty.

"The blatant obstruction of justice by Chief Judge Renée Marie Bumb and her colleagues is criminal," said John F. Marchisotto. "Their manipulation of court filings and refusal to address critical legal documents highlight a profound abuse of power that must be addressed."

Marchisotto's motion for a Preliminary Injunction, Temporary Restraining Order, and Protective Order further details the continuous abuse, exploitation, and criminal misconduct by the named defendants, including Chief Judge Renée Marie Bumb, Judge Ann Marie Donio, Chief Judge Juan R. Sanchez, Supervisor Clerk Gina Hernandez, and Clerk Joseph (last name unknown). These actions have compromised the integrity of the judicial process and placed Marchisotto's personal safety at significant risk.

"We are witnessing a breakdown of the judicial system, where those entrusted to uphold the law are instead perpetuating corruption," Marchisotto continued. "This is not just about my case; it's about preserving the integrity of our entire legal system for future generations."

Marchisotto's filings also emphasize the necessity of ending absolute immunity and lifetime appointments for federal judges. He advocates for public oversight of judicial conduct to replace the current system where judges are often shielded by their peers.

"Absolute immunity and lifetime appointments have created a culture of unaccountability," Marchisotto asserted. "It is time for these protections to be dismantled, allowing for true justice and transparency."

Appeal for Public Support

In light of these revelations, Marchisotto calls on all Americans to support and vote for President Donald J. Trump in the upcoming election on November 5, 2024. Marchisotto believes that President Trump is the strongest advocate for judicial reform and will work to eliminate the corruption that plagues both state and federal courts.

"President Trump has shown a commitment to confronting corruption head-on," Marchisotto stated. "We need his leadership to clean up our judicial system and hold these corrupt officials accountable."

Marchisotto highlights that only with strong leadership and public support can the necessary changes be implemented to ensure that the judicial system serves justice fairly and impartially.

"We must demand accountability and transparency from our judges," Marchisotto emphasized. "The power to reform our judiciary lies in the hands of the American people, and we must act now."

About John F. Marchisotto

John F. Marchisotto is a retired NYPD Police Sergeant whose distinguished career includes being a first responder on the day of the September 11 attacks. He played a crucial role in the rescue and search efforts at both Ground Zero and the Staten Island landfill. His commitment to public safety was further demonstrated on November 12, 2001, when he was among the first to arrive at the crash site of American Airlines flight 587. Marchisotto, along with Lieutenant Cathy Linton, heroically went door-to-door, saving numerous lives from burning homes before the fire department arrived. This courageous act exemplifies his unwavering dedication to serving and protecting the public.

Now based in Jackson, NJ, Marchisotto channels his passion for justice into fighting for judicial integrity and transparency. He has been relentless in his pursuit of accountability within the judiciary, using litigation and public advocacy to challenge corruption and misconduct. His ongoing efforts aim to ensure a fair and just legal system for all citizens, reflecting his lifelong commitment to upholding the principles of justice and equality.
