

Former Child Actor Moves Her "Voice Over" to Music

Toy Story 3 voice actress Emily Ricks releases new ALT / POP Rock single "Call It Falling", further driving her career in a musical direction.

Los Angeles, California Jul 27, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Make no mistake, Emily Ricks is serious about her music and is not looking back. On her latest single, "Call it Falling", released July 26th, the Toy Story 3 voice actress solidifies her sound as an up and coming alternative pop artist. The song is a guitar and synth driven, bass heavy, explosive anthem that chronicles the woes of being a young woman in the dating scene of the 21st century. Ricks pokes fun at herself in a way everyone can relate to. Her opening lyric, “Uh Oh, looks like I got my heart broke again” invites the listener to find humor in his or her own heartbreaks. The Toy Story 3 alum’s style is a blend of alternative sounds landing somewhere between Paramore and The Killers. Although the song is about an abusive relationship and how such a romance can make one feel completely depleted and like a failure, Ricks approaches the subject matter in a hyperbolic, tantrum-like way that allows her audience to digest the subject matter in a rather light-hearted mindset. “Call it Falling” is an anthem for those who have been heartbroken and have felt like they couldn’t get up off the ground. Full of feminine rage, insight and clever lyrics, this song will hook you from the start and not let you go until its last line.

For more information about Emily Ricks, please visit www.emilyricks.com

About Emily Ricks

Emily Ricks is an emerging singer-songwriter from Los Angeles, CA who got her start in the entertainment industry at 8 years old, when she booked a lead role in the Oscar-winning film Toy Story 3 as the voice of “Bonnie.” Ricks has gone on to work in many notable films and TV shows and has also been developing her music behind the scenes. Blending her gritty and honest lyrics with anthemic baselines and beats, Ricks has cultivated her own music style that she is finally ready to share with the world.

Media Contact

Brad Allen

emilyricksmsc@gmail.com

626-807-4339

Source : Emily Ricks

See on IssueWire