

Houston Rebounds: Rebuilding Together After Hurricane Beryl

Houston, Texas Jul 15, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - The recent Hurricane Beryl slammed into the Houston area, leaving a trail of destruction in its wake. Homes and businesses bore the brunt of the storm's fury, with flooding, wind damage, and power outages crippling daily life. But amidst the devastation, the indomitable spirit of Houston shone through. Frontier Services Group, a prominent commercial and residential restoration company, sprang into action, committed to helping the city rebuild.

From Recovery to Restoration:

Frontier Services Group wasn't just prepared for Hurricane Beryl – they were built for it. Having weathered countless storms over their years of service in the Houston area, they possess a deep understanding of the unique challenges presented by these weather events. Their response plan went into effect immediately following the storm, focusing on two crucial aspects – emergency response and restoration services. David Hendrix, CEO of Frontier Services Group, said, "We have weathered these types of storms with the residents of the greater Houston area over the years and are grateful we are once again prepared to quickly and effectively help restore the property of those who were impacted by flood water, fallen trees and other factors caused by Hurricane Beryl."

Emergency Response: A Race Against Time

The first 72 hours after a hurricane are critical for mitigating further damage. Frontier Services Group mobilized its team of highly trained and certified technicians to prioritize emergency response services:

- Board-up Services: Securing damaged buildings with temporary sheeting is essential to prevent further water intrusion and looting, especially for properties that experience wind or damage from falling trees and limbs. Frontier Services Group's team is working tirelessly to board up compromised roofs, windows, and doorways, safeguarding property and creating a safe environment for further restoration efforts.
- Water Extraction and Dehumidification: Hurricane Beryl brought torrential rain, leading to widespread flooding. Frontier Services Group deployed industrial-grade water extraction equipment to remove standing water from homes, businesses and other affected areas. They then utilized advanced dehumidification techniques to eliminate residual moisture, preventing mold growth and further structural damage.

- Power Generation and Temporary Lighting: Widespread power outages plunged many areas into darkness due to down power lines. Frontier Services Group brought in generators and temporary lighting solutions, ensuring their crews could work safely and efficiently around the clock. This also provided a sense of normalcy for affected businesses and residents who were grappling with the aftermath.

Comprehensive Restoration Services:

Now that some of the immediate threats have been addressed, Frontier Services Group has shifted its focus to comprehensive restoration services. Their commitment to quality and customer service translated into a multi-pronged approach:

- Structural Assessments: Structural integrity is paramount. Certified restoration professionals with Frontier Services Group conducted thorough assessments of commercial and residential buildings impacted by the storm. Their detailed reports identified damage to roofs, walls, foundations, and electrical systems, providing crucial information for repairs and ensuring the safety of occupants.
- Content Restoration: Floodwaters and debris can damage valuable business equipment, furniture, and personal belongings. Frontier Services Group has a dedicated content restoration team that specializes in cleaning, drying, and salvaging these items. They utilize advanced techniques for electronics, documents, and textiles, minimizing the financial and sentimental losses faced by businesses and residents.
- Mold Remediation: Mold poses a serious health risk and can cause significant structural damage if left untreated. Frontier Services Group's certified mold remediation specialists identified and isolated mold growth, employing safe and effective techniques to remove it from affected areas. They also implemented preventative measures to prevent future mold outbreaks.
- Construction and Reconstruction: Following assessments, Frontier Services Group assembled their skilled crews of contractors, roofers, electricians, and plumbers. These professionals worked diligently to repair roofs, walls, electrical systems, and plumbing damaged by the storm. Frontier Services Group prioritizes the use of high-quality materials and adherence to building codes, ensuring that restored buildings are not only functional but also structurally sound and safe.

Beyond Services: Building Back Together

Frontier Services Group understands that a hurricane's impact extends beyond physical destruction. They actively participate in community clean-up drives and volunteer programs, fostering a spirit of unity and shared responsibility as Houston rebuilds. Hendrix said, "We are so grateful for the trust the residents of Houston have put in Frontier Services Group since we were founded in 2010 and we in turn want to give back to those we serve."

Transparency and Communication: Key to Trust

In the aftermath of a disaster, clear communication is essential. Frontier Services Group maintains open communication channels with their clients and their client's insurance company, keeping them informed of progress updates, potential challenges, and restoration timelines. They provide detailed estimates before commencing work and encourage clients to ask questions and voice concerns. This transparency builds trust, fosters a sense of partnership throughout the restoration process, and helps insurance claims be processed more easily and efficiently.

Building a More Resilient Houston

Hurricane Beryl served as a stark reminder of the power of nature. However, the collaborative effort of companies like Frontier Services Group and the unwavering spirit of the Houston community demonstrate resilience. By combining expertise with compassion, Frontier Services Group is playing a vital role in rebuilding Houston, brick by brick, ensuring the city not only recovers but emerges stronger and more prepared for future challenges.
