

A Story of Survival: Emre Bardan's Triumph Over Addiction and Exploitation

Unmasking the Truth: Emre Bardans' Fight Against Manipulation and Addiction

Sydney, New South Wales Aug 1, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Emre Bardan, the renowned Glamhairartist, dives deep into the world of hairstyling and his personal struggles with addiction and abuse. He's recovering and healing as he reclaims control over his life and future.

Amidst the chaos of addiction, Emre Bardan reached a pivotal moment where he realized that true transformation could only come from within. Bardan tried to commit suicide due to the trauma from assault and violence experienced in past relationships. As part of the healing process, he has become an author. Determined, he sought help and embarked on a journey of recovery and redemption through therapy, retreats, meditation, education, books, music, self-care, time nature, and sheer resilience.

"I admit to having ADHD, and many different mental health issues due to my past life," Emre Bardan said. "I never wanted fame or significant amounts of money. I only wanted to create my own repairing hair tools, coloring, and designs. When I was younger, I didn't want to focus on anything else but my career development. "

Emre Bardan discovered his passion for hairstyling early on, finding joy and purpose in transforming others through his artistry. His father pushed me through high school, and hairdressing school to complete that course and be certified at the time. A friend named "Hava" helped me stay and finish year 12 with the highest grade in high school. I later finished my hairdressing course too. His creativity flourished, and he started creating signature hair colors and designs. He is known for his signature color, "Crystal Grey." His popularity on Instagram came overnight when he was noticed by Huda Kattan, known as the famous Hudabeauty. He was only 16.

"I was posting tutorials on Instagram," Emre Bardan said." I went to bed one night and woke with my phone and Instagram blowing up."

"The first place I ever traveled in my life was Dubai," he said. "I was invited to do her sister's hair. It was an expensive trip due to the clients wanting me to do my signature hair color for them. I returned back to Australia 10 days later. I received a whole heap big of rewards and cash and at that age. It was an incredible feeling knowing you're getting that success."

He charged around $40k for special gifts for hair colors and appointments and was flown around the world by high-profile clients in Dubai, Miami, and London, mainly in the Middle East.

Bardan is on a bright path again. It has been a long road, but one that needed to be taken. Each day is getting better. As has now moved on from his past life and believes in God's plan for his future.

"I am proud to say have been sober for about a year now," Bardan said. "I am so happy to get out of that trap, and I don't plan to return to drinking, or taking any sort of hard substances ever again. I have had a huge life behind me, starting at 16 years old, and now those people are still here with me, the ones who believed in me and made me overnight success, the beauty influencer Huda Beauty from Dubai. I love my job and my authorship life and due to the struggles, I have been through this is the pathway I can stay in, so I want to focus on that, I am a very spiritual person and have always been proud of my guardian angels protecting my soul. "I didn't deserve any of this."

"I must say, I definitely hate alcohol; I can't stand it," he said. "Due to my past addictions to it because of the people I've met." Hence why I prefer to focus on staying in my own zone.

"I ran into alcohol due to all my friends having alcohol and other substances," he explained. "I felt like I had no choice but to join them in drinking their cocktails and drinks to fit in the crowd and be with them. My drinks were spiked most of the time, and I often woke up unconscious. I was drinking with them forcingly at their house. Some 'friends' went to the point of mixing it with hard drugs that came out in my system when I was hospitalized on many occasions. I would freak out, and then they would act all normal about it and make me look like the crazy one."

"I never had 'FREEDOM' to speak up until now," he added. "They always shut my mouth with money, manipulated big promises, and threatened me, so I had to stay silent; otherwise, I would lose my life and them. Many were narcissistic and evil people."

Bardan left Australia more than once to heal and get away from that crowd. He says if he hadn't, he probably wouldn't be here today.

"With the situation, I lost my reputation with my clients, family, celebrity contacts and royal princesses who looked after me very well at the beginning of his career and he was made to feel fearful of continuing his career, hence why he has been silenced until today, which has been nearly 4 years. It wasn't only one person in this mess. It was hundreds of people who were very interconnected to one person. Therefore, it was easy for them to ruin me and traumatize my life in ways of form and online harassment, real-life stalking, and drugging me at parties I would forcibly need to attend."

His new book "Becoming GLAMHAIRARTIST" launched in May 2024. It has already made headlines. His compelling narrative takes readers on an extraordinary journey through his life, and he reveals the untold stories behind his meteoric rise and the shocking challenges he faced. "Becoming GLAMHAIRARTIST" delves into his career spanning over a decade; Bardan recounts the highs and lows accompanying his journey to amassing millions through his innovative work. Bardan was propelled to fame at the age of 16, and now, at the age of 30 years old, "He Demands JUSTICE." His viral educational hair tutorials captured global attention, setting the stage for his rise in the hair and beauty industry.

Bardan's memoir sheds light on his rise to prominence as the creative force behind Glamhairartist. He has battled cartels in a fight for survival. Following a deceptive billionaire date in America, Bardan found himself thrust into a life-threatening situation. He navigated through the treacherous landscape of cartels in the USA and Mexico, and he is still dealing with the fallout.

In the aftermath of this traumatic incident, Bardan now faces the daunting task of seeking justice and closure amidst the chaos that ensued.

Emre Bardan hopes his story resonates with others who are facing their own battles with addiction and adversity. By courageously sharing his journey, he seeks to be a ray of light to abuse victims who are dealing with their darkest hours. Bardan spreads awareness about the importance of mental health awareness and self-care wherever possible.

"I have never had justice, and it isn't easy to come forward with this Bardan said. "I've had enough, and now I am 30 years old and don't want anyone to try and get in my way of my comeback of my career. I value my authorship with entrepreneurship." He has always been his own boss due to my creative knowledge and natural ability to create extraordinary.
