

Alicia Miller, Psy.D., Director of Assessment at Developmental & Educational Psychological Services

Melding Education and Practice: Dr. Alicia Miller's Pioneering Work in Developmental and Educational Psychology

New York City, New York Aug 7, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Alicia Miller, a highly experienced and licensed psychologist, is making a significant impact in the field of psychological assessment and treatment at Developmental & Educational Psychological Services in Scottsdale, Arizona. With a strong background in public education and over two decades of experience, Dr. Miller excels in delivering comprehensive evaluations and tailored interventions, drawing on her deep expertise and personal insights to address a wide range of developmental and educational challenges.

Dr. Miller's area of specialization includes the evaluation of children suspected of autism spectrum disorders, attention deficit disorders, mood/behavior disorders, and complex trauma-related disorders. She is certified in Dr. Bruce Perry's Neurosequential Model for Therapeutics, offering cutting-edge treatment modalities for trauma-related conditions.

Moreover, Dr. Miller is recognized for her proficiency in assessing and treating individuals with Smith-Magenis syndrome, a rare genetic microdeletion. She also performs medical clearance evaluations for adults seeking spinal cord stimulators and trials, intrathecal pain pumps, and peripheral nerve stimulators.

Dr. Miller began her academic journey with a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Purdue University in 2001. She then pursued a Master of Education Degree at Northern Arizona University, graduating in 2004. Following this, Dr. Miller earned a Master of Arts Degree in School Psychology from Argosy University, Phoenix, in 2009, and continued her studies at the same institution, completing a Doctor of Psychology Degree in 2018.

Armed with multiple degrees, Dr. Miller has honed her skills through practical experience as a teacher and school psychologist for the past 12 years. She also imparts her knowledge as adjunct faculty in the Department of Disability and Psychoeducational Studies at the University of Arizona - College of Education.

Dr. Miller's commitment to ongoing education and professional development is evident in her active memberships in esteemed organizations such as the National Register of Health Service Psychologists, the American Psychological Association, the Scottsdale Psychological Society, and Parents & Researchers Interested in Smith-Magenis Syndrome.

On a personal note, Dr. Miller is the proud mother of two children, the oldest of whom has Smith-Magenis syndrome, autism, and an intellectual disability. Her firsthand experience with the challenges of managing behavior dysregulation, frequent therapy appointments, and significant medical expenses has deepened her empathy and understanding. This personal insight allows her to provide a unique blend of compassion, resources, and practical support, aimed at improving the quality of life for families navigating similar challenges.

Learn More about Dr. Alicia Miller:

Through her findatopdoc profile, <https://www.findatopdoc.com/doctor/2659088-Alicia-Miller-Psychologist> or through Developmental & Educational Psychological Services, <https://www.depsteam.com/>

About FindaTopDoc.com

FindaTopDoc is a digital health information company that helps connect patients with local physicians and specialists who accept your insurance. Our goal is to help guide you on your journey towards optimal health by providing you with the know-how to make informed decisions for you and your family.

Media Contact

Your Health Contact

clientservice@yourhealthcontact.com

Source : Alicia Miller, Psy.D.

See on IssueWire