

Rasha Batarseh, DO, Renowned Hospitalist and Hospital Medicine Educator in New Jersey

Leading Educators with Unmatched Expertise

New York City, New York Aug 6, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Dr. Rasha Batarseh, DO, a distinguished board certified internist, is currently making waves in the medical community with her commitment to excellence in patient care in the acute care hospital setting combined with her bedside and didactic teaching of medical students and resident physicians from a variety of medical school backgrounds in the New York City and NJ area. As a medical educator she prides herself with exemplifying humanism, high integrity and empathy in medicine. Holding a license to practice medicine in New Jersey, she recently served as the Associate Program Director of the Internal Medicine Residency Program at the New York Medical College Graduate Medical Education Program at Saint Mary's General Hospital and Saint Clare's Health and a faculty physician in the Department of Medicine at Hackensack Meridian Mountainside Medical Center. Her vast experience has honed her skills and expertise, making her a trusted name in the field of Hospital Medicine. Dr Batarseh reports: "It brings me great pleasure when I build a rapport with my patients and their family members as they come into the hospital during their acute phase of their illness. As I sit down and discuss their plan of care with them, I am happy to see how comfortable and confident they are with me and my care. Watching my patients in the hospital get better under my care is fulfilling and rewarding".

Educationally, Dr. Batarseh holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Biomedical Engineering, Cum Laude, from the New Jersey Institute of Technology. She then earned her Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine Degree from the New York Institute of Technology College of Osteopathic Medicine in 2007 graduating within the top percentile of her class. She completed her residency in internal medicine at a top hospital system known for its clinical excellence, St Luke's Roosevelt Hospital/Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons in Manhattan, NY in the year of 2010, solidifying her foundation in patient care and medical practice.

As a testament to her dedication and proficiency, Dr. Batarseh is board certified in internal medicine and holds the esteemed title of Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine. Additionally, she is a member of both the Society of Hospital Medicine and the American Board of Quality Assurance and Utilization Review Physicians, contributing to enhanced quality and the advancement of medical practices and patient care standards.

Beyond her professional achievements, Dr. Batarseh's multilingual abilities in English, Arabic, Spanish, and French enable her to connect with a diverse range of patients, fostering a deeper level of understanding and communication in the medical setting. She also has strong ties to her community in addition to contributions to local and international organizations.

Dr. Rasha Batarseh continues to exemplify excellence and compassion in the field of internal medicine, setting a standard of care that is second to none. Her dedication to her patients and commitment to advancing medical knowledge make her a valuable asset to the healthcare community in New Jersey and beyond.
