

Ruth Landau, MD: Leading Anesthesiologist and the Virginia Apgar, M.D. Professor of Anesthesiology at Columbia UMC

Transforming Obstetric Anesthesia through Leadership, Innovation, and Education

New York City, New York Aug 21, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - A distinguished leader in the field, Dr. Landau is the Virginia Apgar, M.D. Professor of Anesthesiology and Chief of the Division of Obstetric Anesthesia at Columbia University Medical Center in New York. She brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to her role, focusing on advancing anesthetic care for obstetric patients.

Pertaining to her educational pursuits, she received her medical degree in 1989 from the Faculty of Medicine in Geneva, Switzerland. Upon relocating to the United States, she completed her residency at University Hospital, followed by a prestigious fellowship at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. Her comprehensive training has equipped her with the skills necessary to excel in the demanding field of anesthesiology, particularly in obstetric care.

In addition to her medical training, Dr. Landau has pursued further education, obtaining an Executive MBA from the University of Washington and a Medical Management Certification. This unique combination of medical expertise and business acumen positions her to lead the Division of Obstetric Anesthesia effectively, ensuring the highest standards of care and innovation are upheld.

On a professional level, she is an active member of several professional organizations, including the American Society of Anesthesiologists, the Association of University Anesthesiologists, and the Society of Obstetric Anesthesia & Perinatology. Her involvement in these associations underscores her commitment to advancing the field of anesthesiology and improving patient outcomes.

Fluent in English, French, Hebrew, and German, Dr. Landau is well-equipped to communicate with diverse patient populations and collaborate with international colleagues. Her multilingual abilities enhance her capacity to provide culturally competent care and foster a global perspective in medical education and practice.
