

Jonathan Weaver, MD, MBA, MPH: An Expert Anesthesiologist at West Tennessee Healthcare

Specializing in Regional Anesthesia and Health Care Policy

New York City, New York Sep 17, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Weaver is a highly skilled anesthesiologist with a strong focus on regional and acute pain management, as well as health care policy. His extensive education and training make him a valuable asset to the West Tennessee Healthcare team and the patients they serve.

In regards to his educational background, he earned his Medical Degree from the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine, where he trained rigorously from 2007 to 2012. Following his medical education, he further enhanced his expertise by obtaining a Master of Business Administration (MBA) from Oklahoma State University in 2012.

After completing his medical degree, Dr. Weaver undertook his internship at Vanderbilt University Medical Center, where he honed his skills in anesthesiology. He then completed his residency in anesthesiology at Upstate Medical Center in 2017, where he gained significant experience in managing pain and improving patient outcomes.

Dr. Weaver has a special interest in regional anesthetics, which provide targeted pain relief with fewer side effects compared to traditional methods. His expertise in acute pain management allows him to implement effective strategies that enhance recovery and patient satisfaction, particularly for those undergoing surgical procedures. In addition, his focus on health care policy enables him to advocate for improvements in patient care and accessibility within the healthcare system.
