

CreditReports.dk launches advanced credit risk and valuation platform for Danish companies

Accurate credit ratings and detailed financial reports for more than 400,000 Danish companies. Access risk management and valuation tools with advanced data analytics.

Copenhagen, Denmark Nov 27, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - CreditReports.dk, a leading provider of financial, Credit Reports, analytics, is pleased to announce the debut of the most advanced platform providing accurate credit risk and valuation reports to more than 400,000 Danish companies. This new service will provide companies with the information and resources they need to make informed business and risk management decisions.

Credit Reports has established itself as an innovator in this field by integrating sophisticated machine learning algorithms to offer accurate and complete credit ratings. The site provides an effortless user experience with comprehensive financial statements, business valuations, bankruptcy risk analysis and valuation tools such as Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) and Economic Value Added (EVA).

“Our mission is to improve the quality of credit decisions by providing companies with the most reliable data and intuitive tools available,” says Markus Paivarinta, CEO of CreditReports.dk. “We believe that providing companies with in-depth financial insights and transparent evaluation methods will help reduce credit losses and support sustainable business growth.”

Key features of CreditReports.dk include:

Credit risk reports Accurate credit scores, bankruptcy risk analysis and credit limit recommendations to make sound financial choices.

Valuation tools Access to customized valuation techniques like DCF and EVA. This allows companies to perform tailored financial analysis.

Industry comparisons A company's performance against competitors in its field using detailed graphs and scatter plots.

Freemium model Access to three reports from companies per month. Additional subscription plans that allow for greater usage.

Easy-to-use platform Accessible information, clear methods and advanced tools to predict financial situations.

Transparent and flexible solutions

CreditReports.com stands out with the transparency of its methodology to evaluate credit. It clearly explains its methodology for assessing the risk of bankruptcy and allows users to manually adjust the forecasts to provide a more personalized analysis. The freemium model helps businesses gain access to important financial data. It also allows for a flexible subscription once the beta phase is over.

A future-oriented approach

CreditReports.dk is in beta and offers free use of all features. This includes up to 1,000 monthly free reports for companies during the beta period. As the platform evolves, it will develop new features to stay on top of financial risk management and credit analysis.
