

Daniel K. O'Neill, MD, with NYU Anesthesia Associates: A Leader in Anesthesiology and Critical Care Medicine

Commitment to Patient Care and Medical Education Drives Excellence in Anesthetic Services

New York City, New York Oct 18, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Dr. Daniel O'Neill, a distinguished anesthesiologist affiliated with NYU Grossman School of Medicine at NYU Langone Health, continues to set a high standard for patient care and anesthetic services in New York, New York. With a medical degree from Thomas Jefferson University, he has cultivated a remarkable career since he graduated in 1989.

Educated in the United States, his extensive training encompasses a variety of surgical residencies at renowned institutions, including the Graduate Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, Hahnemann University Hospital, and St. Vincent's Medical Center. His dedication to mastering his craft culminated in an anesthesiology residency at NYU Medical Center and Bellevue Hospital Center, which he completed in 1997, followed by a fellowship in critical care medicine in 1998.

With dual board certifications from the American Board of Anesthesiology in anesthesiology and critical care medicine, Dr. O'Neill has established himself as an expert in managing complex medical scenarios, ensuring optimal outcomes for his patients.

Beyond his clinical responsibilities, his commitment to the field of anesthesiology is evident through his active participation in esteemed professional organizations such as the American Society of Anesthesiologists (ASA) and the Society for Neuroscience in Anesthesiology and Critical Care (SNACC). His involvement underscores his dedication to research, education, and the continuous advancement of anesthetic practices. He has presented at notable conferences, including the Symposium for Advanced Wound Care and the International Interprofessional Wound Care Course (IIWCC), and has taught at various workshops, enhancing the knowledge and skills of fellow professionals.

As an accomplished author, Dr. O'Neill has contributed numerous publications that focus on the care of perioperative patients dealing with wounds, cardiac arrhythmias, and pain management. His expertise is further recognized through his role as a manuscript reviewer for several scholarly journals, helping to uphold the integrity of anesthesiology literature.

In addition to his clinical work with NYU Anesthesia Associates, Dr. O'Neill serves as a Clinical Associate Professor in the Department of Anesthesiology, Perioperative Care, and Pain Medicine at NYU Grossman School of Medicine. In this role, he plays a critical part in educating and mentoring the next generation of anesthesiologists and intensivists, instilling the values of compassionate, patient-centered care.
