Upon receiving the award in the “Power List” category, Oluduro described it as a “validation”; and expressed her gratitude to Makers Academy highlighting their incredible work in the UK tech landscape. Emphasizing the importance of recognizing women in tech; “It’s an honor to be acknowledged alongside so many inspiring women. This award represents the collective work of many individuals and underscores the significance of diversity and inclusion in innovation,” she said.

The Women in Software Awards are dedicated to celebrating the achievements of women who are shaping the future of software development and technology. This year’s event brought together trailblazers from across the industry, aiming to inspire more women to pursue careers in technology.

The First Founders team and staff of Maufin congratulate Funmi on this outstanding achievement and remain committed to fostering a culture of innovation and diversity.
