Underserved Markets

Imagine walking into your local market, only to find unrecognizable items where fresh refrigerated milk and eggs should be. The crisp iceberg lettuce and ripe tomatoes you rely on for your salads are missing. There are no soft drinks to quench your thirst, no pasta for your favorite dishes, no cereal for your morning routine, and no snacks for your kids' lunchboxes. The familiar brands you trust are nowhere in sight.

How would you feel trying to feed your family when none of the foods you recognize are available? This is the daily reality for 1.4 million Filipinos living in underserved states without access to Filipino foods in local Asian markets and very few Filipino restaurants.

BWoo Foods is bridging this gap by supplying retail stores in these underserved markets and empowering smaller vendors and retailers with wholesale access to grocery outlet stores.
