

Headbook.net, The “Civilized” Social Media Site Seeks Experts to Join in Our Civil, Evidence Based Discussions

Dallas, Texas Nov 12, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - FacetCorp recently announced the launch of Headbook.net, a different kind of social media platform designed to foster civilized, respectful, and thoughtful online conversations. Responding to the growing concerns over toxicity, misinformation, and invasions of privacy on current social media platforms, Headbook introduces a refreshing approach to digital engagement — one centered around civility, integrity, and authentic human connections.

Headbook is seeking experts in any field to come participate in our civil, evidence based discussions. We hope that solutions to problems can be found in these discussions and that rampant disinformation so common today can be countered.

Headbook has two parts, Friends and Discussions. In the Friends part you communicate with your friends like you normally do on social media. The difference is that there will be no ads or algorithm provided “suggested for you” posts — just your conversations with your friends. The Discussion part is open to everyone on the system. The purpose of the discussion part of the site is to encourage civil, evidence based discussions on whatever topics users want.

Headbook discussions provide a civil place for experts to share their knowledge of a topic with the rest of us. The rest of us can ask questions and other experts can debate issues that exist in the topic. Sometimes the rest of us will have new ideas to share also!

As organizations such as those working on climate change solutions are mobilizing for the future, it is our hope that the Headbook platform can provide a place for “We the People” to conduct constructive problem solving in these areas.

“We believe that social media can and should be a force for good,” said Jim Bryant, President of FacetCorp. “With Headbook, we are creating a space where users can truly connect in a positive and constructive way. This is not just about changing the platform—it’s about changing the culture of online communication.”

Please come join us and bring your expertise! Headbook is free for the first month and then $7 per month after that. Interested potential users should read The Headbook Experiment (4 pages).

About FacetCorp:

FacetCorp is a software development company that has historically made business utility software and a voice over IP business phone system. Headbook is a departure but it’s just software and we saw the need.
