

Malaysia Education Innovation Project Honored in Finland's HundrED Global Collection 2025

Groundbreaking Initiative Recognized for Transforming Education and Empowering Educators Worldwide

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia Nov 23, 2024 (Issuewire.com) - Malaysia's Yelaoshr Education Group has achieved international recognition as its project, From Educator to Edupreneur, was named one of the top 100 global education innovations in the HundrED Global Collection 2025. This prestigious acknowledgment celebrates Yelaoshr's commitment to empowering educators and redefining the education landscape.

The From Educator to Edupreneur initiative provides educators with a pathway to transition from traditional teaching roles to entrepreneurship. By addressing challenges such as limited career growth and financial stability, the program equips educators with the tools to grow professionally and achieve financial independence, setting a new benchmark for innovation in education.

Representing Yelaoshr at the HundrED Education Summit in Helsinki were its founder, Mdm. Yap Yee Yee, and CEO, Mr. Yap Wing Fai. The summit brought together global education leaders to exchange ideas, explore Finnish education models, and discuss future-forward approaches such as EdTech and sustainable teacher development.

In recognition of this achievement, Encik Mohamed Ariff, Charge d'Affaires of the Embassy of Malaysia in Helsinki, attended the summit to congratulate Mdm. Yap and Mr. Yap personally. Encik Ariff remarked, “This recognition showcases Malaysia’s ability to contribute meaningfully to the global education landscape. Yelaoshr’s efforts in empowering educators not only uplift the teaching profession but also set an example for innovative educational practices worldwide.”

Mr. Yap Wing Fai, CEO of Yelaoshr, shared his thoughts on the summit: “The HundrED Summit reaffirmed our mission to integrate innovation and technology into education. By focusing on EdTech solutions, we can alleviate administrative burdens on educators, allowing them to concentrate on teaching and inspiring their students. An empowered teacher is the cornerstone of a brighter future for the next generation.”

Yelaoshr’s initiative has already made a significant impact in Malaysia. Operating across 70 centers nationwide, the program supports over 100 educators annually, helping them transition to roles such as certified teachers, trainers, center managers, and collaborator partners. The HundrED selection panel praised From Educator to Edupreneur for its innovative approach to merging education and entrepreneurship, providing a scalable model that benefits educators and communities alike.

Mdm. Yap Yee Yee, founder of Yelaoshr, expressed her gratitude: “Being included in the HundrED Global Collection 2025 is an honor not just for Yelaoshr but for Malaysia as a whole. This recognition validates our vision to empower educators through sustainable career pathways.
