

Edward Alexeev, MD: Visionary Founder and Owner of Atlantic Spine and Joint Pain Center, LLC

Leading the Way in Interventional Pain Medicine in New Jersey

New York City, New York Dec 12, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - Atlantic Spine and Joint Pain Center, LLC is proud to announce that Edward Alexeev, MD, an accomplished interventional pain medicine specialist, is providing compassionate and personalized care to patients suffering from pain in their Manalapan, New Jersey office. With a commitment to improving the quality of life for his patients, Dr. Alexeev and his dedicated staff offer innovative solutions that aim to minimize disruption to daily life.

At Atlantic Spine and Joint Pain Center, LLC, patients are treated with individualized care plans that focus on uncovering the root cause of their pain through advanced imaging and electrodiagnostic testing. Dr. Alexeev emphasizes noninvasive and minimally invasive techniques for treating back and neck pain, as well as chronic conditions like arthritis. Treatment options range from bracing and nerve blocks to radiofrequency ablation and spinal cord stimulators. This comprehensive approach allows patients to participate actively in their recovery process, ensuring they are informed and engaged every step of the way.

Dr. Alexeev's multidisciplinary approach further enhances patient care by integrating physical therapy, chiropractic services, and acupuncture, often allowing patients to avoid surgery and reduce reliance on long-term medication. This holistic model of care not only addresses immediate pain relief but also promotes long-term health and well-being.

A cum laude graduate of the American University of Antigua, College of Medicine, Dr. Alexeev participated in clinical translational research in regenerative medicine and stem cell studies at Cooper University Hospital in Camden, New Jersey. He completed his surgical internship and residency in physical medicine and rehabilitation, followed by a fellowship in pain medicine at Montefiore Medical Center, affiliated with Albert Einstein College of Medicine.

Dual board certified in interventional pain medicine and physical medicine and rehabilitation, Dr. Alexeev is an active member of the New Jersey Society of Interventional Pain Physicians. Before becoming a physician, he worked as a Registered Nurse at Mount Sinai Beth Israel in New York City, assisting in various surgical disciplines in the operating room.

Dr. Alexeev's dedication to public health extends beyond his practice. He is affiliated with Princeton Medical Center (Penn Medicine), Monmouth Medical Center (RWJBarnabas Health), and Burke Rehabilitation Center (Montefiore Health System). Additionally, he volunteers with the Medical Corps in Monmouth County and is a registered physician for national and state emergencies.

With multiple publications and presentations in pain medicine and regenerative medicine, Dr. Alexeev combines expertise, persistence, and strategy with genuine compassion, making a profound impact on the lives of his patients.
