Berkshire, United Kingdom Dec 19, 2024 (IssueWire.com) - The British Suicide: No Longer Able to Bury his Head in the Sand - Provocative Academic Shares UK's Jihadist 'Ticking Bomb' Realities

The contents of highly respected journalist and academic Dr Saul Zadka's latest book, The British Suicide - the UK's self-inflicted failure to defeat jihad for two decades, make for disconcerting yet compelling reading. Immersing readers in the realities of Jihad's current stronghold in Britain and its future potential, the author shares disturbing fact upon disturbing fact. Explaining how Osama Bin Laden was on the verge of settling in London instead of Afghanistan, how one of the masterminds behind 9/11 was given asylum by the Home Office, and other equally disturbing insights, this unputdownable book juxtaposes the pervasive infiltration of Jihadism in Britain against the authorities abject failure to root it out.

Delivering a literary 'hot potato' that required the author to self-publish because those mainstream publishing houses considered its contents too inflammatory; Dr Saul Zadka's book, The British Suicide, is revelatory, incendiary and out and out scary.

On a mission to deliver a "wake up call" to the British public regarding the rapid Islamisation process that has taken hold across the UK, the author suggests the potential of a Muslim majority in the country by the end of the century is highly plausible. Also sharing with readers a slew of previously undisclosed insights relating to failures and blunders made by successive governments and security agencies, the author even goes as far as to list the names of 70 hate preachers whose sermons have led to suicide bombings in the past.

Bursting with information that requires time to process the implications of all that is being said, the contents of this book will surely send alarm bells throughout the British government as well as those in power in other countries. However, with this geopolitical author and commentator steadfastly maintaining that the general public has a right to know about all that is being 'hushed up', the contents of The British Suicide will be appreciated by all that pick up a copy. As is the fact that we live in a society that embraces freedom of speech.

Synopsis:

The UK Muslim support for Hamas is a reminder of the last 20 years during which home-grown terrorists attacked innocent civilians while successive British governments failed to stop them. This book will tell the reader that Osama Bin Laden was on the verge of settling in London instead of Afghanistan, that one of the masterminds behind 9/11 was given asylum by the Home Office, that the M15 was sheltering hate preachers behind the back of the American and French intelligence, that an Al-Qaida preacher who was connected to Jihadi John and the Tunisian massacre lives on benefit in West London to this day and that the Manchester Arena bomber built his device with the help of a Gaza based Palestinian group.

The author says:

"Emphasising the direct link between a policy of appeasement and religious violence, my book provides tangible proof of such worrying developments is provided to us every week via the pro-Hamas demonstrations in the streets of London and the huge increase in antisemitic incidents since last October. Simultaneously the government is powerless to stop the involvement of the Iranian regime in its attempt to undermine UK democratic institutions and threaten the lives of political dissidents.

“Sharia is already taking root in Britain. It is advocated by 40% of the UK Muslim population and more than 100 Sharia courts operate in London alone. In today’s Britain, the number of Muslim worshippers exceeds those who attend church on Sundays. The Islamisation process of the country is powered by thousands of preachers who don’t hide their hostility towards gays, women, Jews, Hindus and other “non-believers “. Above all, they abhor democracy. Some of them influenced suicide bombers in the past. In one chapter, I list 70 of them, a drop in the bucket. Other chapters underline the obvious link between inciting and terrorism while the authorities do absolutely nothing to eradicate this menace.”
