

John Shope's Dirty Bird Concepts Announce New Ownership

Phoenix, Arizona Jan 7, 2025 (IssueWire.com) - John Shope's Dirty Bird Concepts, a top provider of custom motorcycle parts for Harley-Davidson and Indian motorcycles, is now under new ownership. Wyatt Miceli took over ownership of the company in September 2023 and is ready to lead Dirty Bird Concepts into its next phase of growth.

Miceli plans to build on the strong legacy of Dirty Bird Concepts while introducing new product offerings and expanding the company's reach in the custom motorcycle market. His leadership will focus on continuing to deliver innovative, high-quality parts that meet the needs of motorcycle enthusiasts.

"I'm excited to take the reins of Dirty Bird Concepts and continue its legacy of creating top-tier custom parts," said Miceli. "Our commitment to quality and innovation remains at the heart of everything we do, and we look forward to offering even more exciting products to our customers."

Known for its cutting-edge designs and performance-driven parts, Dirty Bird Concepts has built a reputation for transforming motorcycles with custom exhaust systems, suspension, and accessories. Under new ownership, the company is poised to expand its product lines and strengthen its position within the motorcycle community.
