

Lex Fridman Declares His Next Podcast with Popular PM Modi

Right after arriving in Nikhil Kamath's podcast, Narendra Modi will now be appearing at the podcast hosted by Lex Fridman and it has been announced by the podcaster.

New Delhi, Delhi Jan 23, 2025 (Issuewire.com) - Popular podcaster Lex Fridman has announced that his next podcast episode will be featuring Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi who is also quite a popular person. His recent appearances in other podcasts also helped his popularity grow and now, the announcement of Fridman is creating a buzz as well. Fridman is a talented MIT scientist and AI researcher who is well known for bringing influential people to the podcast and talking on various intriguing topics. The long-form interviews with in-depth conversations made his podcast quite popular among listeners all over the world and Indians are also part of it.

Previously, Fridman brought technologists, entrepreneurs, thinkers, other podcasters, and world leaders into the show which includes Elon Musk, Donald Trump, Volodymyr Zelenskyy, Joe Rogan, Yuval Noah Harari, and others. This time, it is going to be PM Modi they will be discussing India's influence in the global economy. Regardless, PM Modi's appearance with the Western podcaster will help grow more impact in the international media as well as online users. The strategy worked well previously with the show 'Man vs Wild'. However, their conversation will also include an overview of India's current situation. The podcaster honored Narendra Modi and showed his excitement to have a "conversation that transcends borders and ideas". It posted "I've never been to India, so I'm excited to finally visit and experience many facets of its vibrant, historic culture and its amazing people as fully as I can.”

Podcasting is a relatively new medium but highly popular at the same time and Modi knows how to leverage this trend. Previously, he appeared in Indian entrepreneur Nikhil Kamath’s podcast who is also the co-founder of Zerodha. Zerodha is India’s one of the top stockbroking platforms. Kamath’s conversation with Modi was quite interesting and the listeners are digging forward to know more. PM Modi has focused on the topics of international relations and economy and Fridman’s podcast will include more diversified topics. It will happen soon by the end of February.

Media Contact

Daniel Martin

@gmail.com

Source : Daniel Martin

See on IssueWire