The 2024 Winter Season Championship will be hosted on the Jan 25th, where participants can compete from anywhere in the world. The championship will feature rankings based on performance from October to December, with the top 100 players automatically advancing to the finals. Other runners can secure a spot through a special paid entry. High-Level Competition and Champion Glory Await You

The PitPat quarterly championship is one of the platform's most competitive events, held only once per quarter and attracting top athletes. Only the best-performing participants from monthly races will earn a spot in the quarterly championship, creating fierce competition. Those who make it through will vie for the "Season Champion" title—an honor highly respected among the global running community. For participants, the championship is not only a chance to showcase their athletic abilities but also an incredible opportunity to win substantial prizes and bask in ultimate glory. Each season's champion will become a standout figure in the PitPat community, earning widespread admiration.

A Growing Prize Pool and Generous Rewards

PitPat's quarterly championship features a unique prize pool mechanism. Starting at $1,000, the pool grows with each new registration, increasing by $1 for every additional participant, reaching a maximum of $50,000. This innovative approach means that participants are not just competing for ranking but also contributing to the prize pool. The larger pool adds excitement and motivation for more runners to take part, and the eventual rewards will far exceed those of traditional competitions. Whether you're a beginner or a seasoned runner, there's a chance to win substantial prizes and earn recognition through hard work.

Custom 3D Race Maps for an Immersive Experience

To enhance the event's immersion and interactivity, PitPat has designed custom 3D race maps for the 2024 Winter Season Championship. These maps, created to elevate the visual and competitive experience, offer participants a realistic racing environment that is more engaging than traditional 2D tracks. Racers will be able to view real-time track conditions and adjust their strategies accordingly. With this innovative technology, PitPat transforms the season championship into a highly interactive virtual event, ensuring every participant enjoys a top-tier experience. The 3D maps add a fresh layer of excitement and challenge, making each race thrilling and dynamic, keeping competitors fully engaged in every moment.
